And it's out a third story window.

As the drama begins, a husband and wife are seen arguing on the third-floor patio of an urban apartment building.

Their fight is juicy enough as is, but just off to the side a man appears in the couple's window.

Shirtless and angry, the man may be an adulterer but he's awfully quick-thinking.

Adulterer with acumen: Like something out of Benny Hill, the shirtless man ties together a rope of clothes and out he goes

Audience: Meanwhile, a crowd gathers below, laughing at the men and taunting them. 'Cornudo!' they yelled at the jilted husband

He tosses out the window an escape rope he's managed to fashion from knotted t-shirts and bravely begins to climb down.

On a window sill below, he stops. The cackling crowd mocks both him and the woman's husband.

'Cornudo,' the growing audience yells at the husband, a Portuguese word for a man being cheated on.

JUMP! The crowd dares him to leap and he does. Luckily, firemen have set up a cushion on the street

Safe: Shirtless and angry, the man lands on the cushion as the crowd cackles at his silly situation

As if a Hollywood celebrity had just fallen from the sky, the passersby hoot and ogle and snap photos. They chant 'JUMP!' as emergency workers arrive to assist the struggling man. And he does just that. A soft mat is placed below the shirtless man and the crowd cheers as he leaps and bounces down to the street. Barefoot and scowling, the shirtless man gives the woman and her husband a good shake of the fist, then shakes it at the crowd for good measure and marches out of view.

The end: The man shakes his fist at the couple he left behind and then admonishes the highly entertained crowd before stomping, barefooted, out of view
